LIFE GOES ON

Life goes on. No end appears
To its laughter and its tears.
Wise men die, but just as wise
Men tomorrow will arise.
All that is will still go on
After we who toil are gone.

Life unaltered keeps its pace;
There's a man for every place.
Every day sees death and birth,
Marriage, melody and mirth.
While the great sun lights the sky
Men will toil as you and I.

Rain and sunshine, joy and care,
All who come to earth will share.
What we've known of pain and woe
Those who follow us shall know;
And in gardens much like ours
Still will bloom the self-same flowers.

Men will wonder, just as we,
What beyond this earth can be.
Never will the mind of man
Solve the Great Creator's plan.
Puzzle o'er it as they will,
Life will stay a mystery still.

DEDICATION

Mrs. Effie W. Anderson, who has been one of our faithful teachers for twenty years, leaves us at the end of the year to begin a new life of retirement. She takes with her our best wishes for happiness for many years to come.

Although deaf at the age of four, Mrs. Anderson graduated from a public school, the Oakland (Nebraska) High School, after completing the courses at the Nebraska School for the Deaf. Faced with a decision as to where to continue her education, Mrs. Anderson has frequently thanked Mr. James W. Sowell, a teacher at the Nebraska School for the Deaf, for playing a large part in her later education and for influencing her parents to send her to Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Effie W. Anderson

Once at Gallaudet, she was placed in the Sophomore Class. During her three years at the college, she excelled in her lessons, captained the girls' basketball team, and made many friendships which have lasted to this day. Graduates to this day continue to seek her advice. As a member of the Gallaudet College Alumni Association, she proudly takes part as a leader in local and national affairs. Her devotion to her college sorority, the Phi Kappa Zeta (OWLS), is unexcelled. She was once its national president.

Mrs. Anderson is completing a teaching career which began at the Iowa School for the Deaf 49 years ago. It was while teaching there that she met her husband, the late Dr. Tom L. Anderson, who at that time was the editor and co-owner of the Minden (Nebraska) Courier, a county newspaper. A year later Dr. Anderson was appointed principal of the vocational department at the Iowa School and Mrs. Anderson returned to teaching. Expect for two years, she has been teaching steadily since—a record which is enviable. When her husband left to assume the duties of a state Vocational Rehabilitation counselor in Texas, she went with him and continued to teach at the Texas School in Austin. Shortly thereafter, they moved to California where Dr. Anderson continued in his line of work and Mrs. Anderson began a new teaching experience at our school. At present she is the adjustment teacher in the Senior High School Department.

Her patient and understanding efforts have helped many of our students to keep up with the regular school curriculum as well as having helped many to go to college. The beauty of her story-telling presentations of the classics in literature continues to inspire her former and present students. Her magnanimous consideration of students and every faculty and staff member is only a part of her charming became a master teacher in team situations. Teaching is a love of hers. Here is one of the great teachers of our time.
